

1

It was buried in the bank of the River Witham near Fiskerton, Lincolnshire.

2

The boat was found near a wooden causeway and other artefacts from the Iron Age: a complete spear, a sword, a dagger, and some bronze objects.

3

The boat measures approximately 6 m in length.

4

The Corieltavi tribe lived in the area where it was found during the Iron Age.

5

It has a bowed bow and a square stern, closed by a board slotted into a groove.

6

It was made from a single oak tree trunk.

7

It was deliberately sunk and still bears axe marks.

8

The number of tree rings (dendrochronology) indicate that the boat dates from between BC450 and BC300.

Who did the boat belong to?

What materials and tools might have been used?

What could it have been used for?

Use all the information to write a paragraph about the ancient discovery. You could include if you think the people were skilled/unskilled, what kind of group they were from and your idea about what happened to both the people and the boat itself.

Who are Teacher's Pet?

Teacher's Pet have been providing downloadable and playable educational content to early years and primary school teachers for over 14 years. We cover all areas of the curriculum and use a team of in-house teachers and designers to create engaging and memorable concepts, that the children will love.

Why local history?

At Teacher's Pet we want to empower primary school teachers by giving them the tools they need to deliver inspiring and thoughtful lessons about the local area and its history. We believe local history teaching has such an important part to play in a child's wellbeing – helping to give children a sense of pride in where they live.

Our Local History project is designed to provide teachers across the UK with everything they need to successfully carry out a full scheme of teaching about their local area, through key enquiry questions and source led activities.

Working with Historic England gives us access to archived maps and photos for resources and information from knowledgeable local historians, as well helping us to provide the content to you free of charge.
